Town Council Notes

How statistically likely is it that three out of four councilmen in Garrett Park (I am excluding councilwomen and including the Mayor) have beards? Our Town Manager, who sat at the center of the long curved table where the Council met for its December 8 meeting, also has a beard. It felt rude to check out facial hair on the men in the good-sized audience that evening, so instead, I listened carefully to what everyone—audience members, Town Councilmembers—said. Here's a rundown.

January 31st, it was announced from the floor, is the Town Dinner; Barbara Shidler is taking reservations. Vernon Loeb, recently featured on the Post's op-ed page, is slated to talk on Monday, December 15, at the Town Hall about the month he recently spent in Iraq.

In the Mayor's report, he noted first that there are now three vacancies on the Arboretum Committee; he encouraged townspeople with an interest in preserving and expanding the town's spectacular greenery to consider joining this important committee. Our new plowperson has so far done a good job moving the snow out of the way; things went pretty well after the first significant snowfall of the season. The town's waste collection also seems to be improving; there are far fewer citizen complaints.

Two demolition matters came before the Council: 4704 Clyde (this will be a partial demolition) and 11104 Kenilworth. Both permits were approved, but a structure on the Kenilworth property—a historically significant barn—will be donated to the town by the builder if the town can find a place to put it and can afford the costs involved. The National Trust for Historic Preservation has a cleverly named program—"Barn Again"—that might provide some funds for this purpose. The Council approved a motion authorizing up to $1500 for a structural report on the barn.

On the matter of the town's too-bright street-lights: Councilman Hans Wegner explained that the design of the lights was changed without the town being informed, and they will now be retrofitted in accord with our original request. We want more softly diffused light. By December 19, the manufacturer will install new light shields for us to look at. Some angles of some of the new lights are off as well, and those too will be retrofitted. The Mayor asked that citizens be patient as these problems are solved.

Ted Pratt then ran through various numbers in the current budget. The bottom line is that we have a number of unforeseen expenditures and need to be very careful as we adjust for them. The Mayor remarked that the Council will have significant budget work to do in January.

The Town Manager's next subject of discussion was the nitty-gritty of various drains in town. I will spare you the details, but at one point there was talk of either "putting Frank [the town maintenance man] down the hole" or "putting the skinniest Town Councilmember down the hole."

Ted also bore the sad tidings that the beloved Town Truck is on its last legs and will have to be put out to pasture pretty soon.

The portion of the Town Council meeting open to the masses ended with a certain amount of crabbing about a disconnect between what those big electric signs along Strathmore say about roadwork dates and the actual dates of the work. Councilmember Chris Keller dubbed this a "boy who cried wolf" problem: "You could have a sign out there saying we're gonna drop an atom bomb here," he said, "and no one would pay any attention to it." For what it's worth, and speaking only for myself, I would notice a sign that said that.

Jobs List

Several more names came in for our jobs list this winter after our massive snow. Consult the print version of the Bugle for names and telephone numbers.

The sidewalks in front of your house (if you have them) are your responsibility to get cleaned by 24 hours after the last flake falls. This will make it possible for pedestrians to stay out of the snowy streets.

Dues for 2003 are Due

This month's green banner was contributed by Florence Gootenberg in honor of her husband, Santa Roy. We do appreciate her thoughtfulness. It is also time again to pay your dues for the Citizens Association. At $10 per family ($5 per individual) per year, you get the Bugle printed and mailed to residents, 4th of July festivities, Town Dinner necessities, and help with the Newcomers Welcome. You can pay at the Town Dinner (slated for January 31) or by mailing dues in the envelope inserted in this issue. Make the check out to Garrett Park Citizens Association. We thank you in advance. Details about reservations and cost for the Town Dinner are given below.

Town Dinner is Coming

This year's Town Dinner will be on Saturday, January 31, 2004, at 6:30 pm at the Town Hall. Meeting, greeting, and munching will begin at 6 pm, and formal eating at 6:30. As in past years, this is a super potluck supper. You are asked to bring your own serving and eating utensils, and one of the following: appetizers, salad and breads, main dish, or dessert (enough for 8 to 10 people). Bring your own eating utensils! A fee of $5 will be collected at the door to cover the cost of decorations, drinks, and paper goods.

Since space is limited, it is suggested that you call in your reservation and what you will be bringing to share to Barbara Shidler as soon as possible. If you would be willing to help in the decoration of the Town Hall on that morning (January 31, 10 am), please call Mary Moyer. Come join us in welcoming the new year in our town and having a say in who is elected to the next Citizens Association board (the vote will be the first order of business after dinner). And since this year's 4th of July theme was the "First 100 Years of Flight (and other inventions)," the dinner theme will be an extension of that: "Flights of Fancy."

Town Manager Notes

Snow removal: The Town has a new snow removal contractor, David Gregg. Mr. Gregg may be familiar to many of you, as some years ago he did extensive tree work for the Town. We are looking forward to much better service than last year. To assist in keeping our streets clear:

1. Please park cars off the streets when snow is predicted.
2. Please do not block intersections, particularly the Kenilworth/Rokeby barricade. This allows access for emergency vehicles and speeds up plowing.
3. Please keep sidewalks in front of your homes shoveled. The Town Maintenance Department will take care of Penn Place and the Town Hall. See page 2 for a list of young residents who are interested in work shoveling snow.
4. Do remember that Argyle Avenue is closed for sledding when snow falls. Be especially careful where Argyle meets Rokeby at Wells Park. Should the hill become icy, the Mayor or Town Manager will inform the snow contractor that the hill should be cleared or sanded.
5. Please remember that driveways are not plowed as part of the Town's snow removal contract. Residents are asked to clear their own driveways all the way to the street.

If you experience unusual problems, please call the Town Office (301-933-7488).

Trash pickup during inclement weather. When we have snow or ice, Waste Management's workers will not attempt to pick up refuse if it is dangerous for them to do so. To prevent interrupted service, please clear (and sand, as needed) a path to your refuse cans or bring your refuse cans to the curbside.

When Waste Management defers trash collection or recycling because of inclement weather or a holiday, they will have collection on the next business day.

Yard waste & Christmas trees, large item pickup. The first Wednesday of the month is yard waste day until March. At the January 7 pickup, you can also put out your Christmas tree. The next large item pickup is set for January 17.

Holiday remembrances. Any residents wishing to send a thank you to the Town's refuse collection workers may reach them at the following address. These gentlemen having been working hard to rebuild the service that the Town enjoyed before June, and they are making good progress.

Strathmore Avenue. Jack Halley, the State Highway Administration (SHA) site engineer, reports: "Starting on the 15th of December, F. O. Day, Inc., the general contractor for the SHA, will have its subcontractor W. F. Wilson, Inc., starting to install the new water line from Weymouth to Kenilworth. This work is anticipated to be completed in about six weeks. The sewer line work will follow the water line after that operation. F. O. Day will then start the drainage structures from Weymouth Avenue towards Kenilworth.

"At this time the subcontractor only has Christmas and New Years as nonworking days. There will be no work on Sundays. There may be some Saturday work."

The town is working with SHA to get a better schedule and will mail it out when it is received.

Finally, happy holidays to one and all!

Illusions

Some 30 years ago, during another war, our British ally waived its rules of engagement and sank the Argentine ship General Belgrano; 323 seamen perished in the cold south Atlantic. Gotcha! was the tabloid headline.

A bright sun glinted off the glass of the Empire State Building that day as I stepped across 34th Street and up some stairs into a dusty cave. It was a place of scarves and miracles: Flosso-Hornmann Magic. I told Mr. Flosso that I was a failed childhood magician looking for a self-working illusion to show my nephew. He replied in a voice that channeled W. C. Fields that he had nothing like that, but would my nephew like a circus picture book? He reached into an old steamer trunk and removed a book that showed four-color pictures of trapeze artists, clowns, sword swallowers, a fierce lion. No? Perhaps your nephew would like a coloring book instead? He closed the book and opened it again. The pictures were outlined, but not colored in. No? Perhaps he's an artist? Would he prefer blank paper? He closed the book and opened it yet again. He riffled the pages that were now blank.

Standing there where Houdini—a former part-owner of the shop—once stood, the shop's motto was revealed: Mundus Vult Deipi Decipiatur. (The world wants to be deceived. Let it be deceived.) I left with that book, of course, and several other gimmicks that have served me well: a handkerchief that rises on command from a table top, a device that changes pennies into dimes. (Odd how small the society of rich magicians...)

A September 2003 New York Times brought unwelcome news to my new residence in Garrett Park. More U.S. troops killed in Iraq, and inside an obituary: Jackie Flosso too was dead.

A couple of weeks later in Wheaton, I looked up from my business and saw a sign: Barry's Magic Shop. I stepped in and asked the proprietor if he had any self-working illusions. He said no, but did my wife like blue and purple scarves? How about yellow and green? I put that scarf in my pocket, having paid but a small price for such a profound, guaranteed transformation.

Today our government suggests that the American occupation of Iraq will end in June and that a provisional Iraqi government will be in place on the first of July. (How large the club of wise government officials! To know the very moment when democratic values can bloom like flowers from a general's hat.) Osama bin Laden and Saddam Hussein remain, as of this writing, separately but totally vanished. Major hostilities in Iraq have ended, the President has said; the undeclared war goes on right before our very eyes.

Mundus Vult Deipi Decipiatur, indeed.

Dan Marsh

Town Recollections

We don't fancy the idea, but the calendar tells us we are among the ancients of the town, granting license to bore you with views from Keswick Street (10810 to be exact) of 50 years ago.

We moved in Thanksgiving Day, 1952. The front yard was sodded, as was a 40 foot strip in back. Weeds, broken glass, cinders, and flowerpot bits covered the unsodded part. No trees. There was a corner woodlot across the street, where the homes of Bill Burnett and Joanna Greer are now. One of the first things we did was plant 25 white pine and 25 white spruce seedlings. Over time, we gave away all but two pines and many of the spruce. Those spruce provided us with Christmas trees until spider mites put paid to the last one.

In 1952, the 10800 block neighbors were Pendleton (now Foster), Higgins (now Bennett), French, and Weaver (now Cooper and Sklar). Coming back the other side were Wood (now Floreen and Stewart), Murray, Corrick (now Goldsborough and Faulkner), Michaelis, and that woodlot. The Murray children were a bit older than ours, so we got quality hand-me-downs of clothes, bikes, etc. Not content with that, they bequeathed us a long-term vacation rental of a friend's cottage in Rhode Island after they built their own summer place in West Virginia. Pendleton next door, who worked for Heinz, gave us cases of baby food and holiday teddy bears for our young ones. Todd and Jack Pendleton taught our son how to play the guitar and repair cars. Lou French solved several emergency plumbing problems, gratis, and Joe Michaelis showed us how to install a post-lamp out front. Guy Johnson, who lived on the Weaver property, used to leave treats for children in a hollow tree along unpaved Oxford Street.

Traffic on Strathmore was sparse, we had a real train station complete with Railway Express, and Charlie Chamberlain hung the outgoing mailbag on a pole next to the track for the mail-car to scoop up on the fly.

This is our recollection; we hope others will add theirs.

Arboretum Notes

There are three vacancies on the Arboretum Committee, as Marian Green has completed her term, and members Beth Irons and Charlie Andrews have resigned. Thanks for all their efforts on behalf of the Arboretum. If you are interested in serving on the Committee, please contact Councilmember Chris Keller or Town Manager Ted Pratt. The Town Council expects to appoint new members at its January meeting.

Anniversary Celebration

A celebration of the Arboretum Committee's 25th anniversary took place in October. This event honored the visionary and dedicated efforts of the Committee's three chairpersons: Barbara Shidler, who was instrumental in founding the Arboretum; Els Benjamin, who worked long and hard on an valuable inventory of town trees; and retiring chair Marian Green, who created a delightful series of booklets on trees for children.

The Arboretum celebration was brightened by the efforts of students at Garrett Park Elementary School. A lovely tree mural painted by students in the school's art classes can be seen under What's New on the Garrett Park Elementary website www.mcps.k12.med.us/schools/garrettparkes/

In addition, many students in grades 3 to 5 created original and charming poems, paragraphs, and drawings on the theme of "If I were a tree." They will be bound together for the Arboretum archives, and can be viewed in the Town Office. The Committee will also present a copy of the booklet to the school. Thanks to all who participated in this event—students, teachers, and Barbara Rodes for helping to coordinate this activity. We wish we could include all the children's contributions to the event in this article. Here is a sampling.

If I were a tree ...

I would be a redwood because I would inspire kids and they would have fun with me.

I would like to be a sugar maple because a sugar is a tall beautiful tree with red, yellow, orange, and green colored leaves. When the people look at me they would think of a sunset.

I would be a palm tree. My shade is so relaxing when the sun shines hot, and you feel like you're melting. My leaves are wide enough to cover three people. I am a most remarkable palm tree.

I would be a plum tree. The reason I am this tree is because some kids can't eat candy, and plums taste a little like candy, but they're still healthy. I have squirrels that live in my trunk, and trust me: they are not very pleasant visitors. Why don't you visit me?

I would be an orange tree. I would want to be planted in a farm so bugs can eat my delicious oranges so the bugs can be healthy.

I would like to be a gumball tree. I want to be this kind of tree so people can be with me. I would like to be planted in the neighborhood because people can pick up my gumballs. I would like kids to climb and swing on me.

I would be a palm tree. My roots would be like other trees, hairy and twisted. My fruit would be hairy on the outside and sweet inside. I would be used for a long bed because I have a long trunk that could easily fit five people.

I would want to be a willow tree because when the wind blows it looks beautiful, and the leaves are long and full of colors.

I would want to be a dogwood. Why? Because in the spring they bloom the most beautiful flowers. Also at some points they only have really pretty dark green leaves. In a way this tree is like me. This is how sometimes I like getting dressed up and sometimes I don't.

I would like to be a sweet gum tree. They could use my beautiful wood for lots of things like pretty boats that could sail in the water. And they could even leave me alone for good and just enjoy my beauty.

I would be a maple tree because I'd like my leaves to look like stars. Birds could make nests in me. My roots would be tougher than steel. My trunk would be so strong that when a twister happened I would not fall down.

I would be an evergreen tree. I could be used for a Christmas tree, because people could decorate me for Christmas. They don't have to cut me down. People could decorate me for Halloween with Halloween lights as well. I could suck up all of the bad air, and make the Earth a better place. Remember, more evergreen seeds would make more of me!

And a Poem

Trees give us much to be thankful for.
Much more than we could ever hope for.
If you observe them some, you'll want to look at them
More.
If you look at them when the season is changing, you
Will see their beauty, and you will want to stay
Outdoors.
When you will realize that their beauty is wonderful,
And you will want to explore more.
So explore, explore, explore!

Streetlight Update

For those of you curious about what is happening on our streetlights, here is a status update. Holophane, the manufacturer of the fixtures, says these cannot be redesigned, but they are willing to make, and have us test, several shields that will reduce the glare that many of us find unacceptable. Our lighting consultant on this project, Scott Watson, has been working with Holophane on this, and expects to have three shield options ready for testing by December 19. They will be shipped to us shortly thereafter. We will have these installed on several lights to assess their effectiveness at giving us the softer, less direct light that we are looking for. If one of these meets our needs, all fixtures in town will be retrofitted with it. Holophane is currently negotiating with Pepco to do this retrofit installation themselves.

Some of you may also have noticed that some of the installed lights have supporting arms with ornamental scroll work, while others do not. Scrollwork arms will be installed on all the lights that do not currently have them, so that when done, all fixtures will be the same. At this time, no completion date has been set. Be assured though that our goal remains unchanged: We want to achieve a more even distribution of softer light. We greatly appreciate your patience and understanding while we work to complete what at the outset seemed like a very simple task

Letter from the Mayor

Well, it is finally happening. The Strathmore road project is really under way, and we are beginning to experience some of the inconveniences. There will be more road closures, delays, and detours as the new gas lines and storm water drains are installed. Water pipes will have to be relocated, and cable and phone lines moved. We have been imploring the State Highway Administration to give us a simple schedule that we can share with all of you, laying out the various steps that this project will go through and the impacts on our community as they occur. We will keep up the pressure for the information and will send it to you when we get it. SHA representatives will also explain the project at an upcoming Citizens Association meeting. But we will have to endure a two-year construction period. We could shorten the time by allowing more night and weekend work, but we are mindful of the sleep needs of our residents along and near Strathmore.

We all lament the loss of trees, but most of the trees removed were slated to be cut down anyway, the victims of old age and Dutch Elm disease. Only a few trees had to be taken specifically for the project, and Town Council members have been monitoring the SHA activity to ensure that only the minimum tree removal occurred. But the road does look different and bare for the time being. At the end of the project all new landscaping, trees and bushes, will be planted.

The project will narrow the road and reduce the paved area substantially compared to now, and the Strathmore residents will end up with larger and more attractive front yards. In addition to a whole new drainage system that will correct decades of problems, we will have curbs that, together with the new landscaping, will act as a traffic calmer, making the road look much narrower and slowing cars traversing this part of Town. We will also have sidewalks on both sides of the street, as well as pedestrian lighting—light posts every 60 feet. This will substantially enhance safety, as well as improving the visual image of the only street through our Town.

So if we can all deal with the noise, mess, and delays of the construction, we will have a vastly enhanced roadway. And in the interim, the construction will almost certainly slow down traffic and discourage some travel on Strathmore by nonresidents. We appreciate your patience and support.

Film Society 2004 Film Series

Thanks to lots of volunteerism and even more community support, the Garrett Park Film Society is planning another year of quality films. We'll be seeking members for the 2004 Series in the next month or so. Here are the films we will be offering:

Princess Mononoke—Japan's biggest domestic box-office hit, an art film and a densely plotted and visually stunning piece of animation. This anime has two scenes that include overtly violent acts that may upset small children. Otherwise, kids and adults will love it. January 9 (Free to the entire Garrett Park community)

Chocolat—A scrumptious bonbon about a nomadic single mother (Juliette Binoche) who sweeps into a stubbornly quaint French village with her daughter and opens a chocolate shop. Also stars Alfred Molina as the Mayor and Johnny Depp as an Irish gypsy. A Valentine's Day Special! February 13

The War Room—Follows key members of Bill Clinton's campaign team from the snows of New Hampshire in January 1992 to the victory celebration in Little Rock in November. The movie's stars are James Carville and George Stephanopoulos. April 23

The Adventures of Baron Munchausen—The fantastic tale of a 17th century aristocrat's efforts to save a town from defeat. Being swallowed by a giant sea-monster, a trip to the moon, a dance with Venus, and an escape from the Grim Reaper are only some of the improbable adventures. Directed by Terry Gilliam. With appearances by Eric Idle, Robin Williams, Uma Thurman, Oliver Reed, and Sting. A wonderful family film. June 18

Babette's Feast—In this piquant Danish drama, an exiled artist confronts the uneducated palate, awakening interest if not applause. Babette is a maestro, a Rubinstein of cuisine. The kitchen is her orchestra, the spoon her baton. Babette has cooked her masterwork, flavoring what once was only craftsmanship with sacrifice and love. In Danish, with subtitles. July 24 (Saturday night)

Babe, the Gallant Pig—The story of an intelligent swine whose talents in sheep herding just might save him from the slaughterhouse. Featuring live-action comedy with state-of-the-art special effects and performances by animal actors, Babe is an inventive, heartwarming film for all ages. September 10 (Free to the entire Garrett Park community)

Delicatessen—Just in time for Halloween. Combining the cruel humor of Grimm's fairy stories with the spirit of Terry Gilliam, this feverish tale of star-crossed lovers and small town cannibalism has endured as a true masterpiece of the fantastique. Nothing can prepare you for the sheer weirdness of it all. Directed by Marc Caro and Jean-Pierre Jeunet, in French with subtitles. October 29

Run Lola Run—Explores the events that fate alone controls and displays the constant "what if's" that provide the foundations for each outcome. The film takes you on three different journeys with Lola and her boyfriend, whom she desperately tries to save from death by helping him obtain a huge amount of money he carelessly lost. In German, with subtitles. November 19

Progress at Penn Place

For those of you who haven't been by Penn Place recently, the front porches are being framed over new stone foundations. The original building had two separate front porches. The public one on the railroad side led to the general store. The one on the right led to the private residence. The reconstructed porch on the right will lead to the north main entrance to the building, and the reconstructed porch on the railroad side will become a dining porch.

All the interior framing has been completed, and the placement of the new stair in the addition is nearing completion.

The installation of the mechanical, electrical, and plumbing systems are under way. They are better matched to the building's needs and are more resource efficient than anything that was in the original nineteenth century building. Discussions as to the type of security system to be installed are under way. This, too, will be more sophisticated than a simple key-operated lock.

Before Christmas and with the cooperation of the weather, we expect to have the windows, doors, and metal roof installed at the addition and to have begun the re-installation of the siding at the original building.

Harry Gordon has agreed to conduct another tour sometime in January.
